

FOR THE CURIOUS.

Things Out of The Ordinary Found in Breckenridge County.

A CELESTIAL TRAMP.

Persons who saw the meteor that flashed through the heavens Monday night a week ago can go to Fisher's drug store and see what it looks like when cooled off.

The meteor on exhibition at the store was shown up by an eruption of light emanating from some other planet. It was thrown so high that it went outside the radius of gravitation and became a celestial tramp until it came close enough to the earth to be attracted to it by the force of gravitation.

The meteoric stone is composed of nickel, iron and cobalt and was at a white heat when it struck the earth. It was very much like a bubble and the air inside made it hollow. It is about 18 inches long and 10 inches wide and weighed 12 pounds. It was found in the gravel pit at Skillman, 50 feet below the surface of the earth, showing the fearful velocity it had attained in its travels.

In cooling off the meteorite cracked and the crevices in it are clearly defined. The outside is oxidized by exposure to the elements.

IN REGULAR ORDER.

According to a communication sent to this office by Rev. J. T. Lewis, of Irvington, the family of Moses Bell observed the sequence of things from the cradle to the grave. Moses Bell moved here from Mercer county. His family consisted of four children, Harriet Bell, W. H. Bell, Elizabeth Bell and N. P. Bell. All had reached the age of understanding when they became members of the Baptist church. They joined the church in the order of their seniority, the oldest sister, Harriet, being the first to be baptized, and they followed her in the order of their seniority. Harriet passed away first, W. H. Bell next, and Elizabeth last. N. P. Bell, the youngest member of the family survives them. He lives near Hardinsburg and is a most conscientious member of the New Bethel Baptist church.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

James Gordon was drowned in Franklin county while going with a friend for his marriage license.

George Boyton, of Newburg, Ind., cut a vein in his arm and bled to death because his wife had used for divorce.

Failing to kill his wife who made a most remarkable escape, Jas. Clancy, of Lewistown, Ill., blew his worthless brains out.

Robert Harris, a bachelor of 30, was married at La Porte, Ind., to Miss Blanche Smith, 70. They had been sweethearts for 50 years.

Who'd discussing their marriage, which was to occur in a few days, A. J. Comer said at his sweetheart at Martinsburg, W. Va., as he pulled out a revolver: "If in the possession of Mr. H. Comer who occupies the beautiful Hotel farm above this city. The cane came from Mexico and was a present to Mr. Comer from Wash. It is made of the water sprout of a coffee tree and was carved by hand by a Mexican wood carver. The design is peculiarly Mexican. It represents a giant-rattle snake. The scales are perfectly marked, the coloring being that of the natural wood and the effect is startlingly realistic. The head of the cane is carved to represent the symbolic calendar stone of the Aztecs. It shows the sun burst that was a symbol of worship in the valley of the Aztecs, and it also contains the Aztec hieroglyphics. It is, altogether, a most unique souvenir from the land of Poco Tiempo and one that Mr. Comer prides very much.

BEADS FROM CHRIST'S TOMB.

Real necklaces are once more in style. The young ladies of this town have been showing their friends and admirers necklaces that were worn by the mothers or grandmothers in past generations and the one who finds the most unique specimen of bead necklace is most envied by her sisters. Miss Margaret Bowman is the proud possessor of a necklace with a history. The beads are made of mother of pearl and are beautiful in the extreme. They were brought to this country by Chief Justice Joseph Holt from the Holy Land and the fact that they lay on the Holy Sepulchre gives them additional value in the eyes of their possessor. They were brought to this country in 1849.

FATE OF AN EARLY SNAKE.

Henry Duncan has the reputation of being one of the most intrepid men in this community and what he says can be depended on. On Friday he was riding out the pike and when he reached a point a little beyond the distillery he saw a snake in the road. He got out and killed the reptile, which was about twenty-five inches long. Henry did not stop at the distillery and was only "sober" when he came home that a snake had been killed nearby as the 10th of March in this vicinity. Mr. Duncan also mentions having seen crawfish swimming in the creek at Hill's Run and only a few days ago the temperature was down at zero.

you go back on me I'll show you what I'll do." As he turned the weapon to his breast, it went off and he went with it, thus reducing the number of fools by one.

Adam Rupp, Sr., was divorced from his wife, at Evansville, eight years ago. They married a second time and their partners to the second marriage died. He had a son who pleaded with them to marry. He eloped with her, and they are one again.

Marvies at Grapophones.

One of the wonders of the end of the century is the home Grapophone, that will reproduce any kind of music, or any sound. One can arrange a full program of the most attractive band, orchestra or vocal music and vary it every evening. The Grapophones can record the human voice or any sound, and reproduce it. You can hear the voices of your friends, or hear whenever you wish, Grapophones made for home entertainment can be bought at low prices. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kline's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water, scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents or one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells more about it, than sent absolutely free by mail, if you send your address to Dr. Kline & Co., Biograph, in Boston. When writing be sure and mention that you read this generous offer in the BAZAARING NAME.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

Block of Wood Crushes an Ohio Countryman's Head.

Ania Struck, a young man 18 years old, was struck and killed by a block of wood while working at Egge's stove factory, near Jingo, Ohio county, last Thursday. He was running a joint saw, and a block that was thrown from the equalizing saw caught on the belt and was hurled against him with such force that he only lived a few minutes after being struck.—Hartford Herald.

SOME RECOLLECTIONS.

Postmaster Wilson Recalls Brilliant Men of the Legislature of '71 and '72.

Postmaster James Wilson was in a reminiscence mood the other day and speaking to a News reporter he said, "The legislature of '71 and '72, contained some men whose names will always be associated with history of the state of Kentucky. It turned out some great men. There was Charles M. Clark, Jr., of Bourbon county. After he left the legislature he became a candidate for governor. Wm. Hoskins, of Boyle county, acquired state wide fame as a sharp, shrewd politician before he died; R. T. Taylor, of Campbell county, was a member of that session and since then was a candidate for Lieutenant governor; Walter E. Carr, of Harrison county, was a candidate for the Confederate Congress; and one of the most prominent figures in that session was J. C. S. Blackburn, from Woodford, he was now United States Senator and a man of more than national fame; George M. Thomas represented Lewis county and ran with Judge Harlan as a candidate for the lieutenant governorship; Wm. Brown and another brilliant man, He represented Jessamine county and was a most eloquent lawyer. He afterward attained fame as one of the leading lawyers of the United States, and died at Washington, D. C.

SPEAKING OF UNIFORMS.

Louisville dressmakers are to wear uniforms. They have committed no crime to be compelled to wear this badge of servitude. It's a pity that the law of retribution does not set in its work and result in some Louisville politicians wearing uniforms—the kind with black and white stripes—that would make them look like human c-h-r-s.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

An Ohio minister refused to accept the proceeds of a church entertainment because the hero in the play elapsed the heroine to his breast and kissed her. He contends that the kiss was the real thing, not make-believe, and therefore immoral. As the minister is unmarried the people are asking how he knows the difference between the sham and the real article, especially if he considers the latter immoral. The chances are that he will be holed by his own petard.

RYAN, NOT HOBSON.

Wm. J. Bryan has again demonstrated that he is a man of iron will. At Breckensridge, a beautiful young lady at the depot blushed and said:

"Mr. Bryan, will you kiss me?" Bryan was surprised for a moment, but quickly recovered himself and answered:

"My dear young woman, I am not Hobson."

The young lady blushed. Bryan fought a terrible temptation and won new laurels as a man equipped with a strong back bone.

INFANT CRIMINALS.

In Chicago last week, two boys, aged respectively nine and eleven years, held up and robbed four men and one woman. In Richmond, Va., an eight-year-old boy stole a horse and was sentenced to the penitentiary. In New York, a child of five was sentenced to the reformatory for stealing a watch.

It is said that a child of five in New York was sentenced to the reformatory for stealing a watch. The child was found with the watch in his pocket and was sentenced to the reformatory for a term of years.

Cuban Scenes.

The following is a letter from G. L. Barkley, of the Third Engineers, United States Army, to his father, George M. Barkley, of Stephensport. The son is at Pinar del Rio, Cuba, and writes from there:

Dear Father—

My much appreciated letter was received while on the transport "Shenandoah" at Havana, and I was indeed glad to get some news from home, after being on the water so long.

When we left Macon, Ga., on the 14th of February, the thermometer was standing at about three o'clock, and there we had to wait until the 17th, about eleven o'clock, before the transport started. After every thing was loaded we sailed anchor, and set sail for the "Pearl of the Antilles."

When the vessel left sight of land, and began to rock and roll as we moved her through the foamy waters, the sea began to turn pale and get sick. But when the first half day was over, we were over our seasickness, and after that the trip was as pleasant as could have been expected.

The soldiers were allowed to go almost over the vessel, taking advantage of this opportunity to get as near the bow as possible, making with one foot upon the other, and in the position everything that was to be seen in all could be seen distinctly.

The crew, as they would appear in the distance, with their masts projecting out of the water, seemed to be the only thing at the first tops of the masts would appear, then the sails, and finally the ship, the rest of the most interesting thing was the fish. The porpoise, or sea lion, was the largest and most abundant of any that we could get a good look at. They would sometimes swim directly in the path of the vessel. One instance I remember very distinctly. It was swimming just about the bow of the ship, porpoise, each about six feet in length, made their appearance in front of the boat. They would swim along just in front of the bow, and before you had time to get up for some four or five minutes, and then turned to one side and passed on.

After striking the Gulf Stream the flying fish, jelly-fish, sword-fish, and other creatures appeared. The flying-fish made about a half point in length, and were about as large as a hand saw, and were striking the water. The jelly-fish were small, but very beautiful.

The porpoise of them all was the sword-fish, which, when in the sea, made a very beautiful appearance. The sword-fish, with all these gray robes, and their long, thin, sword-like beaks, they made a beautiful sight. They did not get close enough to them to get a very good idea of how they look.

The next place of interest was Pinar del Rio, a point about a mile off the shore, and the sea was shining directly up to the beach. Two half-hour trips up to the beach, and the sea was shining directly up to the beach. Two half-hour trips up to the beach, and the sea was shining directly up to the beach.

The porpoise of them all was the sword-fish, which, when in the sea, made a very beautiful appearance. The sword-fish, with all these gray robes, and their long, thin, sword-like beaks, they made a beautiful sight. They did not get close enough to them to get a very good idea of how they look.

The next place of interest was Pinar del Rio, a point about a mile off the shore, and the sea was shining directly up to the beach. Two half-hour trips up to the beach, and the sea was shining directly up to the beach. Two half-hour trips up to the beach, and the sea was shining directly up to the beach.

After striking the Gulf Stream the flying fish, jelly-fish, sword-fish, and other creatures appeared. The flying-fish made about a half point in length, and were about as large as a hand saw, and were striking the water. The jelly-fish were small, but very beautiful.

CURRENT TOPICS.

BY MR. HATTIE GREENE.

Rear Admiral Watson is a Kentuckian. He will wear his dignity with true Kentucky style and will do his high office credit we feel assured.

Mr. Josephine Jacoby one of the courtesies of the day has been engaged for May Music Festival. Which shall we love her for? Marcella Demick? Is the question.

No many have asked me for whom are you in the choice of Governor? I was not asked. I was asked for P. W. Harkin. Oh, I know what you'll all say, yes, very well. I am a Democrat every time but not a partisan.

There's a wide difference between kind advice and a disposal to mendle especially when the result is apparent. Adding Napoleon was no more appreciated when that ambitious general was banished to St. Helena.

Let American cities make an immense wreath of immorality and send to the one man far who declines promotion, Rear Admiral Higdon, or better put him in a cage and exhibit him as a phenomenon of this fading country.

Be what you are. Don't assume. Society places people right exactly in the niche their qualities and capacities will fill. Good manners, intelligence, proper bearing, a deference for others and a good heart are worth more than the wealth of India and don't forget it young people.

Richard W. Knott, of the Evening Post, "never expects to ask a true of any man." But he knows he will get a true of any man he asks. He has done it in the past and he is keeping it up to this place with a loud, resounding ring.

Farwell, a long farewell to Gen. Egan who will spend his allotted days to Honolulu where there are no more court martial, no odor of beef and no more contact with Gen. Miles. If I and we'll send him to Gen. Miles to Jericho for his treatment of one illustrious man dead in southern hearts.

The doctrine of the Louisville Dispatch has been endorsed by the majority of the Democrats of Kentucky. Who, they felt, established the paper? Who, they felt, established the paper? Who, they felt, established the paper?

In last issue of this good paper was an article headed, "Some Great Men were Supposed Vindictive." The victims named were Lord Byron, Tom Moore, Goethe and so on. May I ask if any man ever wept and ever great his love has not been washed by the tears of passion. But no, not even Thomas Moore who wrote such sweet lines was ever really touched by the tears of passion. He was a man of iron.

Creeping Consumption

Do not think for a single moment that consumption will ever strike you a sudden blow. It does not come that way. It creeps in a way.

First, you think it is a little cold; nothing but a little hacking cough; then a little loss in weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats.

The attendance comes when you have a hemorrhage. Better stop the disease while it is still creeping. You can do it with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

You first notice that you cough less. The pressure on the chest is lifted. That feeling of suffocation is removed. The cure is hastened by using one.

Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral over the Chest.

A Book Free. It is on the Diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Write us freely. We will send you a copy of the book free of charge. It is a valuable work. It is a valuable work. It is a valuable work.

INCURABLE DISEASES
Many diseases considered incurable are cured under other names. Simple catarrh in the head is incurable. Consumption is a catarrh of the lungs and its cure is a catarrh of the chest. But great numbers of people die of consumption needlessly. It is certain that every phase of catarrh, including many cases of consumption, are cured by the right treatment. Peruna, Dr. Hartman's great prescription, attacks catarrhal diseases scientifically and cures them. Dr. Hartman explains it fully in his book which you mail on application. Here is a letter from Mrs. Harmsen, Mass. Maria, who is one of many cured of consumption by Peruna. She says:
Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.
Dear Sir:—I cannot praise your remedy too highly. Last winter I had a gripe and hemorrhage of the lungs followed. All the doctors around here told me I had to die of consumption. I thought I would ask Dr. Hartman for a letter, which I did. He prescribed Peruna for me, and I took it according to his directions and was cured. I advise everybody that is troubled with lung disease to take Dr. Hartman's treatment. I am sure they will not regret it if they do. I am now enjoying good health, and can thank Peruna for it.

There will be prayer meeting at the Baptist church next Thursday afternoon, at two o'clock. An account of bad roads has been decided to meet in the afternoon, instead of evening, in order that those in the country can attend.
These stirring times force themselves upon the public mind, it seems women are thinking grandly upon the situation and are better prepared to defend. This is as it should be, for the American woman is not without her qualities. The olden voices that which man refrains from speaking.
The Fortnightly Club held their regular meeting with Mrs. Richard Wathen, on the afternoon of March 4. It is my pleasure to say something in praise of this noble body of women. They live many miles apart, and must face winter storms and travel rough roads and are impossible to attend these meetings it is needless to say they are women of great stability of character speaking a higher intellectual standard. Their persistency in the face of obstacles is a noble example and we are glad to have such among us. With such women at the helm who can doubt that the destiny of the twentieth century will see the Fortnightly Club still alive at Irvington.

THE BIBLE SAYS:
"As ye sow, so shall ye reap."

The time for sowing is at hand. You should plant a garden. The produce you will raise will cheapen living expenses and will promote good health. When you plant select the best seed. We handle all the different varieties grown by the best seedmen on earth. The seeds are adapted to this soil and climate. Invest in them now and they will return you an hundred fold before the summer is spent.

"GARDEN SASS."
Peas, Spinach, Lettuce, Asparagus, Tomatoes, Squash, Pumpkins, Radishes, Cucumbers, Watermelons, Muskmelons, Canteloupes, Beans of all kinds, Beets, Seed Potatoes, Onion Sets and everything in that line.

LADIES! PLANT FLOWERS!
Make your front yard a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Plant flowers. We have a most varied selection for you to pick from. Now is the time to get your seeds. THESE ARE GUARANTEED to be absolutely fresh and prolific.
